| JetBrains organises/takes part in multiple hackathons a year around Europe. To help maximise participants' experience at hackathons who use our IDEs, we want to develop an IDE plugin that works as an interactive competitive team-based game which participants take part in during the hackathon. We would ideally want this to be related to our goal of developer productivity, but any ideas are welcome for what we can do with this as a concept. We would help the team deploy this to the JetBrains Plugin Marketplace where not just us, but anyone interested can use it. (This would be an open source project). |                                                                            |
